MISSION

CHRISTIAN UNION DEVELOPS AND CONNECTS TRANSFORMATIVE CHRISTIAN LEADERS.

Dear Friends and Partners,

As an unusual academic year comes to a close, we are delighted to share with you how God continues to deepen and expand His kingdom through your support and generosity.

In spite of the COVID-19 pandemic, economic challenges, and cultural upheaval, we have an extraordinary opportunity to shape the next generation and to help transform American culture. Our goal in providing resources to help Christian leaders develop bold faith, gospel convictions, and a Spirit-filled life is to raise up a generation of leaders who seek God with their whole hearts and minds, and who make a profound difference within their God-given spheres of influence.

In 2019-20, Christian Union pursued national revival through its ministries: CU Universities, CU Cities, and CU Day & Night. The Universities ministry mentored, taught, and challenged students to think critically about their faith while growing in their devotion to Jesus. CU Cities mentored professionals and hosted an events that engaged men and women in New York City. CU Day & Night promoted national renewal through fasting, prayer and repentance, thereby seeing more participation than ever before.

In light of the COVID-19 pandemic that changed the world this spring, Christian Union was forced to move much of its work online as universities sent students home and New York City went into lockdown. Our ministry faculty's ability to quickly shift gears to embrace new methods of ministry led to some breakthroughs, despite the many challenges.

We remain ever grateful for each and every person who has joined in our mission to bring revival to our nation. You are helping to change the future of America and the world by developing devout and effective Christian leaders. Thank you for allowing Him to use you in this way for His glory.

Sincerely,

Matt Bennett
Founder and CEO

CU Universities

CU Universities develops and connects transformative Christian leaders at some of the nation's most influential universities: Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Princeton, Stanford, University of Pennsylvania, and Yale.

The ministry pursues revival, develops students as Christian leaders, and helps graduating seniors thrive in their transition to graduate school or the marketplace. Your support allows Christian Union ministry faculty to partner with the Holy Spirit and invest in hundreds of students each year.

Christian Union's ministry model is the same at each school and is grounded in seeking God wholeheartedly with an emphasis on prayer. Christian Union Universities has a ministry field that includes approximately 72,500 students.

By God's grace, the faithful prayer and giving of CU ministry partners enabled the ministry to accomplish the following last year:

Welcome & Connect First-Years

First-year students in Bible courses: 332

First-year students (1Ls) in Bible courses at Harvard Law School: 6

New student outreach is an exciting time for returning students and ministry faculty to connect with first-years to help them get involved in Christian community. The first weeks of the fall semester are critical. Incoming students enjoy opportunities to connect with other believers on campus and to hear about Christian Union Bible courses and the Leadership Lecture Series.

Because of your support, Christian Union faculty and upperclassmen welcomed new students with dozens of events in a few weeks, prayed by name for new students, and intentionally invited newcomers into community by having more than 3,400 one-on-one meetings.

One freshman said, "I've never felt more welcomed."

Provide In-Depth Study of Scripture

Students in Bible courses: 1,138 students

Each Christian Union Bible course is comprised of 8-10 students. Students study Scripture in-depth and unpack the implications for their lives. This year's Bible courses included: Colossians; The Seeking God Lifestyle; Sex & Spirituality; and Romans. Seniors studied the Biblical view of vocation, employment, and financial stewardship in preparation for their next season of life. Bible courses continued virtually, even as the pandemic sent many home.

Deploy High-Caliber Faculty

Ministry faculty employed: 37

Christian Union employs high-caliber ministry faculty (directors, ministry fellows, and teaching fellows). Their challenging call is to instruct, mentor, and inspire students of high intellectual ability who often know little to nothing about Scripture.

Mentor Students to be Godly Leaders

One-to-one-mentoring: 6,673 student meetings

Mentorship changes lives. From sharing the gospel, to discussing theology, to considering how to grow in relationship with Christ, mentorship is critical to spiritual and personal growth.

Cultivate a Seeking-God Lifestyle

Hours in corporate prayer: 16,303; Days of fasting: 1,948

To model and lead the nation toward godliness, future leaders must develop a passion for seeking God with zeal and boldness. Your generosity helped students learn what it means to pursue God in significant ways this year.

Coach & Develop Student Leaders

Students in a leadership role: 165

Students with significant responsibility: 303

Christian Union is committed to investing in the leadership growth of students. This means that each year dozens of students on each campus are given roles of significant influence and responsibility within the ministry. Ministry fellows actively coach and disciple these burgeoning leaders as they grow in their ability to lead in godly and mature ways.

Sharpen Intellect & Cultivate Worship

Average weekly attendance: 415 students (fall); 423 (spring)

Weekly Leadership Lecture Series meetings are where spiritual vitality and intellectual engagement converge. LLS speakers range from CU ministry faculty to Christian scholars to local professionals. LLS events also include worship and are often followed by community-building activities.

Employ Tailored Campus Outreach

Free Christian books distributed: 1,519 books

Involved new Christians: 176 students

Evangelism conversations: 978 conversations

Evangelism exposures: 97,670 students

Engaging secular campuses with the gospel requires creativity, energy, persistence, and wisdom. In the 2019-2020 school year, despite challenges presented by the pandemic, Christian Union faculty members and students were active in evangelism and worked hard to give many students opportunities to hear the gospel.

Transition Seniors Well

Your support helped seniors better prepare for the next stage of life as many transition to life in a new city or enter the workforce. Those with plans to move to New York were warmly welcomed into the Cities ministry which has continued to host stimulating conversations and lectures via Zoom. The alumni engagement team also hosted online gatherings for soon-to-be-graduates to connect them to the growing Christian Union alumni body.

Support and Connect Alumni

Alumni Boards at Dartmouth, Princeton, and Yale engage their respective alumni communities through prayer initiatives, fundraising, mentoring opportunities, and alumni events.

Christian Union Cities, based in New York City, welcomed new alumni and created ministry offerings that were adapted to the realities of graduate school and the marketplace.

By 2019-20 there were more than 3,300 alumni of Christian Union's University ministries.

“Through Christian Union’s model of teaching and training, students gain a surplus of practical knowledge about God and his Word that outruns individual capacity and prepares them for a lifetime of leadership and service. I have the privilege of influencing the influencers, to equip and empower those who are going to integrate their faith in leading strategic private and public institutions.”

– Dr. Ben Pascut

Teaching Fellow, CU Libertas

In addition, as a result of the generosity of Christian Union ministry partners, CU offers the following resources:

Christian Union Ministry Centers

Christian Union's ministry centers provide urgently needed space for Christian leadership development programs, meetings, and events. To date, the ministry has established:

The Adoniram Judson Center at Brown;

The Columbia Ministry Center at Columbia;

The John R. Mott Center at Cornell;

The Robert L. Melrose Center at Princeton; and

The James W.C. Pennington Center at Yale.

Christian Union Ministry Grants

Because Christian Union values Christian unity, the ministry partnered with a variety of Christian organizations in 2019-20 to advance the gospel at leading universities (and in New York City). One way the ministry pursues Christian unity is by actively supporting other Christian organizations.

In 2019-20, Christian Union granted $101,135 to applicants. These funds come from a donor-designated fund, not the operating budget, to support other Christian efforts at these universities. Projects included Christian publications (at four campuses), Veritas forums, speakers, retreats, arts and culture organizations, and more.

CU Summer Opportunities

Sadly, because of the COVID-19 pandemic, the planned summer trips were canceled for the summer of 2020.

Over the last two years, Christian Union has rebranded its university ministries, adopting a Latin or Greek name for each.

Words like Lumine, Lux, and Vox directly appeal to the institutions' original ideals and mottos. For example, Columbia's motto is "In lumine Tuo videbimus lumen" ("In Thy light, we shall see light").

So, at Columbia, the ministry name is now Christian Union Lumine.

On the following pages are highlights from each ministry.

 CHRISTIAN UNION LIBERTAS

Christian Union Libertas began the year with an emphasis on outreach, specifically engaging faith with arts and sciences. Beginning with the pre-retreat in Cape Cod, the CU Libertas community gathered to worship, pray, recenter after a summer apart, and prepare for first-year outreach. Welcoming the incoming class included dessert nights, a BBQ at the Judson Center, handing out coffee and donuts on campus, and game nights to invite new students into the community. The outreach proved to be effective and fruitful as the ministry welcomed a particularly large group of men into the ministry, having made some initial connections after an accepted student weekend in the spring.

The Anchor, CU Libertas' Leadership Lecture Series, was enormously successful in the fall, featuring new Teaching Fellow Ben Pascut speaking regularly on topics like identity. It was a great way for students to be challenged while also getting to know their new ministry faculty member.

Fall Conference was held in the beautiful Berkshires of Western Massachusetts, where students picked apples, bonded, and heard talks from each member of the ministry faculty. The conference is always a special time of solidifying relationships, building community, and drawing near to the Lord.

The spring semester did not go as planned as the pandemic shut the campus down and CU Libertas transitioned to ministry online. The semester was full of challenges ranging from basic scheduling difficulties with students all over the world to trying to provide pastoral care for students struggling to adjust to their new reality. The CU Libertas ministry faculty focused on one-on-one care and connection, trying to deepen and sustain relationships with students. Though the year did not finish as anyone anticipated, the faculty were encouraged to see younger students stepping up to lead, growing in their faith, and inviting friends into the ministry — all in the midst of trying circumstances.

CHRISTIAN UNION LUMINE

The summer began with student leaders meeting with CU Lumine faculty to pray and seek God's face for the upcoming academic year. Student leaders took time weekly to ask God to bring revival on Columbia's campus and grow the ministry's reach. The Lord was faithful to respond to those prayers.

Student leaders gathered for pre-retreat and mapped out the first-year outreach for the fall. New students were welcomed by a host of outreach events like a Chick-fil-A midnight giveaway, an open house, the Soul Food dinner, Prayer & Pancakes, Dinner & Jazz Night and sports on Columbia lawns.

Many students signed up for Bible courses in the fall. This was the first year the Columbia Ministry Center was in full use, and it played a vital role in bringing students together. The weekly Leadership Lecture Series (called Illumina) featured topics that included Is God Sexist?, Diving Deep in Prayer, Our Justice Calling, and many more from a range of excellent Christian communicators.

In October, a lecture by Dr. Robert Kaita, a retired physicist in the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory, asked the question, "If we have science, who needs God?" This was a great opportunity for students to invite their friends and for skeptics to hear about the person of Jesus Christ.

In November, the students spent time fasting and praying in a 23-hour prayer chain. More than 40 students participated. Students concluded the month with a special Thanksgiving dinner event for students on campus with over 65 students taking part.

The COVID-19 pandemic forced students off the campus, but that did not stop them from experiencing community, continuing Bible courses, hosting Illuminas, and gathering for prayer online. During Holy Week, over 50 students fasted and were encouraged by weekly devotions written by students.

CHRISTIAN UNION VITA

CU Vita's vision and focus for the start of the year was building and deepening community. First-year outreach welcomed a good-sized class of freshmen into the ministry due to stellar recruiting from upperclassmen.

Fall conference featured talks from ministry faculty and provided the opportunity for newcomers to deepen their relationships with returning students.

To help foster community growth, the executive team and ministry faculty focused on connecting with students and offering daily prayer meetings. "Staff chats" each week provided a space for students to eat lunch with the ministry faculty, catch up on life and also have theological discussions.

The socials team was incredibly active putting on events like a Halloween party with games and prizes, a Christmas party with an open mic time and carols, and a Valentine's Party where students decorated valentines and wrote encouraging notes and verses to each other.

The outreach team hosted French Roast Fridays each week, giving out free coffee and answering questions about Christianity and Christian Union. The reusable cups featured information about CU Vita's schedule and events as a simple way to let others know what Christian Union does on campus. The outreach team also hosted "Grill me for Grilled Cheese" and invited other fellowships on campus to join in the efforts.

Once COVID hit, LLS went virtual and student leaders stepped up to give messages on forgiveness and God's grace. Discipleship meetings, prayer meetings, and even staff chats also went online. Bible courses were held over Zoom and new students continued to join the athletes and senior Bible courses during that time. Growth in the study for female athletes was very encouraging, as there had been very few female athletes previously involved.

CHRISTIAN UNION VOX

In the fall, CU Vox first-years led the annual Thanksgiving meal (photo, right) featuring testimonies from new students. Serving as a time to gather as a community and an opportunity to invite non-Christian friends, the event enabled new students to hear about CU Vox and how the Lord was working in the lives of their peers.

Another highlight from the fall was the outreach Leadership Lecture Series. Students were challenged to invite three non-Christian friends, and students came through. The LLS was the highest attended of the whole year and sparked many conversations with new students about the gospel and the person of Jesus.

During the Winter Conference, 45 students came together for a time of fellowship and bonding away from campus. Little did they know that the COVID-19 pandemic would strike in just a few weeks, sending them home. When Dartmouth decided to continue classes remotely, the decision occurred while students were at home on break between the winter and spring term. The university did not allow students to return from their break, leaving most students without any of their belongings from school.

In spite of the pandemic, Bible courses were more highly attended than ever, largely due to student availability. Without sports practice or club meetings, students' schedules were much more open and the CU Vox community grew closer together. Operating remotely also allowed for a unique opportunity to welcome the still-in-high-school incoming class of 2024. Because these accepted students could not visit campus, many Christian students reached out to CU Vox faculty to hear about Christian life on campus. These early conversations led to a full-blown Bible course for accepted students in which they were able to build relationships with one another and get to know the CU Vox community. The spring Bible course was so fruitful that incoming freshmen wanted to continue to meet together over the summer and participated in a study of Esther together.

CHRISTIAN UNION GLORIA

In the late summer of 2019, returning students gathered at pre-retreat to pray and plan for first-year outreach. It was a spiritually rich time of worship, repentance and prayer. Back on campus, outreach events included a Charles River picnic, a glow-in-the-dark social, door drops (books and treats) and a lot of food and opportunities to connect.

With nearly 140 students enrolled in Christian Union Gloria Bible courses, instruction and mentorship got underway, as did prayer meetings of all shapes and sizes.

The Leadership Lecture Series (called DOXA) covered topics like White Supremacy and Idolatrous Identities; The Problem of Suffering and The Faithfulness of God; and Metaphors to Live by. Highlights included a bring-a-friend DOXA entitled Life's Deepest Questions.

In December, thirty students partnered with the Harvard Ichthus to share the gospel across the campus with Text-4-Toasties.

Several hundred students texted in faith-related questions and received a free grilled sandwich with in-person answers to their questions about God, Christianity, and spirituality. The outreach team also hosted an Alpha Course, with over 25 friends of students attending the first meeting. Evangelistically-oriented conversations continued for five weeks before the campus shut down in mid-March.

In February, students attended a Winter Conference at the Glastonbury Abbey south of Boston. Talks centered on emotional health and hearing from God.

When COVID-19 sent students home in March, leaders moved everything online. All key aspects of ministry continued unabated for the duration of the spring semester. While away from campus, two student publications were created by CU Gloria students; both were stunning in their depth and quality. The ministry also co-hosted a Veritas Forum event discussing life in a pandemic.

CHRISTIAN UNION GLORIA LAW

In the fall of 2019, Christian Union Gloria Law appointed its first officers to become a recognized student organization at the Law School. In November, CU Gloria Law was granted official student organization status starting in the spring semester of 2020.

A weekly Bible course on First Corinthians began in September and lasted until the end of the spring semester of 2020 with an average of 14-18 students in attendance. In October, a 3L married couple hosted a Bible course for married students at HLS, which saw 8-10 people attend weekly. They studied Philippians in the fall, and Celebration of Discipline, by Richard Foster, in the spring. Also in the fall, a long-time CU student (2L) hosted a Bible course on James specifically for Chinese law students.

At the beginning of the semester, new officers and core students committed to praying weekly for revival, which led to a midweek prayer and worship night that continued through the summer (virtually on Zoom). There was exponential growth in prayer and fasting among students as they formed small groups for fasting throughout the year. One of the 3L students led a virtual month-long prayer, worship, and fasting initiative during the month of June 2020.

One-on-one personal discipleship meetings increased dramatically over the 2019-20 academic year. Regular meetings with students increased from 12 students to 20 students, and a 1L student became a fully-devoted follower of Christ.

In the spring, during the pandemic, Chick-fil-A boxed lunches were delivered to 18 students who remained in the Cambridge area to bring a bit of relief and some “lunch love.”

Although this year presented its own unique set of challenges, CU Gloria Law was delighted to have ministered to another graduating class of 3L students who will go out into the world as more committed and zealous followers of Jesus.

CHRISTIAN UNION NOVA

The 2019 student executive team was determined to lead the ministry with an intentional focus on practicing hospitality so that others might hear and receive the good news of Christ.

In September, first-year outreach included a hospitality event for students on the first day of classes, a trip to a Yankees' game, and three freshmen dinners. As a result, eight new freshmen Bible courses began.

During fall break, students displayed their faith in Christ by serving under-served individuals in Trenton and Philadelphia.

The Leadership Lecture Series (LLS), Encounter, focused on the theme "New." Topics included, New Self, New Worship, and New Sexual Ethic. At TruThursday, the African, African-American and Caribbean culture LLS, topics ranged from cancel culture to present-day racial issues.

Ski Safari was once again a powerful time for students as they participated in extended times of prayer and spent hours drawing near to God.

When the pandemic began in March, traditional rhythms at Princeton were upended as students returned home to complete their classes online. Despite the challenges, CU Nova continued to hold Bible courses, one-on-one meetings, and both Encounter and TruThursday online.

Students displayed resilient faith, even in the midst of the pandemic. Many expressed their desire to grow in their faith and to continue the spiritual practices they started while on campus. The ministry faculty was encouraged to hear students sharing that CU Nova had become a family to them during their time at Princeton. Even as the semester ended, students continued to show a desire to grow spiritually and to invest in their faith community.

CHRISTIAN UNION MARTUS

Community was the theme for CU Martus heading into the 2019-20 school year. The fall semester began with a pre-retreat in central PA, where students spent time with God, reconnected with each other, and prepared to reach out to incoming students.

First-year outreach was successful as students organized a variety of daily events with the goal of connecting with new students. Events included a Shake Shack dinner, a Phillies game, daily presence on Locust Walk to hand out ice pops and informational brochures about CU, and worship and prayer sessions off-campus. Hundreds of students were met on Locust Walk during the three weeks of New Student Orientation and Bible courses flourished. Seven courses were launched just for freshmen.

In September, 25 freshmen and 25 upperclassmen attended Fall Conference on the Jersey Shore. St. Louis pastor and scholar, Aaron Turner, gave talks on Paul's letters, providing insight into how to lean into the gospel and walk in obedience to Jesus.

The Leadership Lecture Series, Philia, grew over the course of the semester averaging 75 students each week. CU Martus also co-hosted, with the Veritas Forum, Max McClean's The Most Unlikely Convert, a dramatic portrayal of C.S. Lewis' conversion. More than 700 people attended the Annenberg Center performance.

Throughout the year, Ministry Fellow Fuji Kim led a weekly outreach to the Penn campus where he and CU Martus students provided cups of hot apple cider (and engaging questions on faith and culture) to the Penn community on Locust Walk.

From March through May ministry faculty aimed to connect with students through continued Bible courses, Philia, and prayer groups. The seeking God ministry team organized weekly 24-hour prayer sessions and weekly prayer groups, Philia continued to attract 40-50 students each week virtually, one-on-one discipleship meetings continued, and ongoing Bible courses were a lifeline for students.

CHRISTIAN UNION CARITAS

CU Caritas began the fall semester with an exciting first-year outreach, connecting with dozens of incoming students and forming new Bible courses. The annual Fall Conference took students off-campus to Monterey, CA. A number of first-years attended and were able to connect more deeply with the returning students and ministry faculty. Activities included beach time, a photo scavenger hunt, worship, and talks from both ministry faculty and students.

The CU Caritas Leadership Lecture Series, Venture, featured thoughtful and spiritually challenging talks. One of the CU Caritas co-presidents, who was also a leader with Veritas, co-hosted a fireside conversation between professors called Designing Your Life When Strangers are Drowning with a non-theist group on campus.

The winter quarter typically includes a getaway to a family home in Tahoe. The event was canceled a week beforehand because the hosting family knew a mother and daughter who tragically died in the same helicopter crash that killed NBA star

Kobe Bryant. Because the crash killed both a childhood hero of many students and family friends of another student, it hit close to home. Psalm 90, the Psalm of Moses, emerged as a source of wisdom and comfort for students were grappling with the fragility of life. Ministry Director Garrett Brown spoke on the everlasting nature of God from that Psalm at the ministry's first Leadership Lecture Series after the tragedy.

When the pandemic sent students home, it forced the ministry to continue virtually. One-on-one discipleship continued to be fruitful and the Bible courses ended well. Venture moved to a less frequent schedule due to student Zoom fatigue.

In the midst of the unusual circumstances, students were encouraged by a devotional series throughout the Easter season. CU Caritas had focused on prayer as a theme for the academic year, and these devotionals brought a deeper level of participation in seeking the Lord as a community.

CHRISTIAN UNION LUX

In the summer of 2019, ministry faculty prayed for increased unity amongst other campus ministries, especially in the area of prayer. In a gracious answer, God allowed CU Lux to serve as the national host site for the Collegiate Day of Prayer on Feb 27, 2020. Over 100 participants across six ministries, joined by nearly 40,000 tuning in remotely, gathered for the special two-hour program. The executive student leaders also led eight days of special morning and evening prayer called “great to the heavens,” inviting students to earnestly pray the week before the event.

The first-year outreach began with a two-day retreat for returning leaders at the nearby Incarnation Center with the theme of Reconnected, Revived, and Ready. CU Lux held a two-day workshop studying the book of James, focusing on the key themes of steadfastness and living faith.

On-campus events included an ice-cream social, the frosh dorm drop, (where every frosh suite received snacks, the Gospel of Luke, and a personal message from CU Lux), team building at a local escape room, and an open house at the ministry center with dinner, worship, and student testimonies. With nearly 75 students enrolled in Christian Union Bible courses, instruction and mentorship got underway, as did prayer meetings, and the Leadership Lecture Series (called Rooted).

In January, 30 students sought God together at the Winter Conference with talks on “The Key to Understanding the Bible” and two-hours of silence to put aside all distractions and hear from the Lord at the start of a new year. In February, the outreach team organized an “inCARNATION” giveaway of 500 carnations with a Bible verse attached to each.

During the last half of the spring semester, God allowed the ministry to thrive, even while scattered around the world. Students and faculty gathered for Bible courses, prayer, discipleship, leadership coaching, and even the end of year banquet, all via Zoom.

CU Cities

The CU Cities ministry continued to strengthen its mission of developing networks of transformative Christian leaders in cities of significant cultural influence. To this end, it provided mentoring, small group and individual discipleship, a speaker series of thoughtful Christian leaders in the professional and cultural space, and the development of a redemptive community.

CU New York began its year as usual in September with an annual yacht cruise in New York harbor— a time to welcome recent grads and those new to the city. Participation by both newcomers and the existing young professionals always packs the boat to capacity.

The speaker series for the fall and spring was a robust one, in spite of the challenges of COVID-19. These speakers and panels were remarkable in giving Biblical perspective and professional insight to a range of issues relevant to living in and engaging a global city as a thoughtful Christian. These speakers and topics included Prof. N.T Wright, on The New Testament in its World: How History Can Revitalize Faith; Dr. Os Guinness, on Carpe Diem Redeemed: Discerning the Times; Dr. Lydia Dugdale, on The Lost Art of Dying: A Perspective of Hope in an Anxious Season; and Justin Earley, on Spiritual Rhythms in Times of Crisis.

A foundational component of CU New York continues to be the discipleship and coaching of young professionals as they build deep spiritual resiliency and engagement with their professional callings. Coaching, mentoring and equipping these young leaders will pay dividends for decades to come.

CU Day & Night

The vision of CU Day and Night is to see the greatest Christian movement that the nation has ever seen, resulting in bold, Spirit-empowered Christians, millions of conversions, supernatural displays of God's glory, and societal improvements.

The online ministry Christian Union Day and Night was launched January 17, 2016. In the past year, the number of people who have officially participated in an initiative of the ministry grew from 39,000 to 50,000.

The ministry is dedicated to providing continual spiritual strengthening to Christians across America and to encourage them to draw near to God continually, day and night.

Key Activities and Impact

Resourcing Others via DayAndNight.org and Social Media

In the past year, more than 88,000 visitors used the ministry's website, DayAndNight.org, and more than 120,000 were ministered to daily via the CU Day and Night Facebook Page, Twitter account, and Instagram account. Hundreds of videos, articles, devotionals, and other resources provided spiritual strengthening and encouragement to Christians across the country.

Prayer Team

More than 15,000 people across America committed to spending 15 minutes, every day, praying for revival in America. This prayer team was supported by a weekly prayer email giving motivation and reminders to remain steadfast in prayer.

Nov. 2020: The Great Experiment

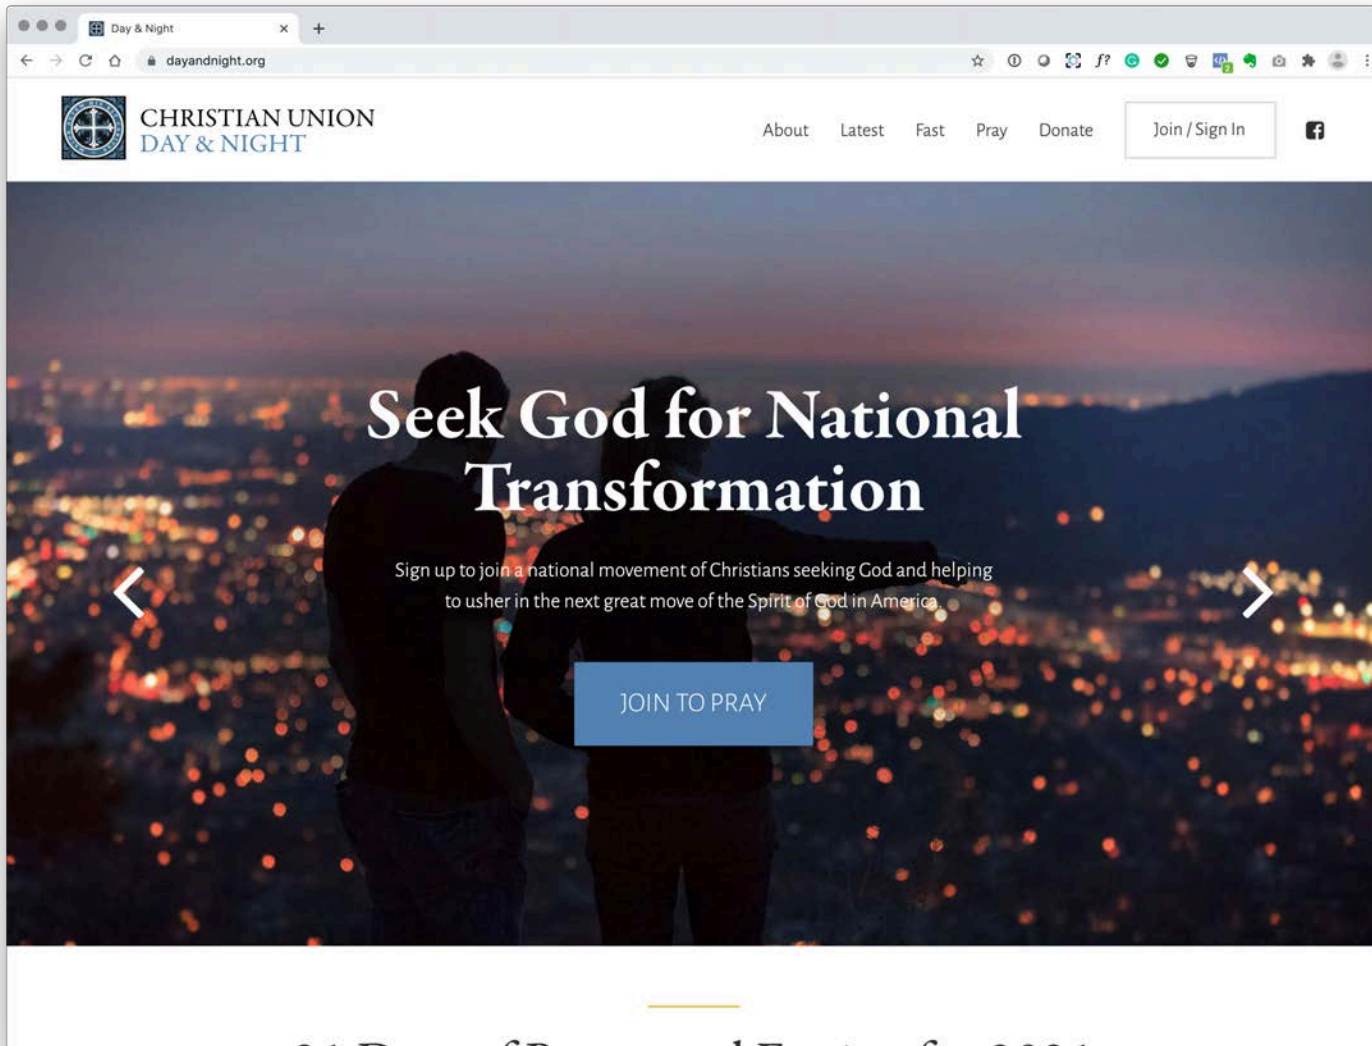

1,100 people committed together to seek the Lord in an extraordinary way, including twice daily prayer and Bible reading, repentance, responding to the instruction of the Holy Spirit, evangelism, and a faith-enlarging "Joshua Faith Challenge."

Jan. 2020: 10-Day Fast, "Undefined"

More than 1,000 registered participants were encouraged by daily devotionals drawn from the book of Daniel, a role model from Scripture who refused to compromise his standards. Unmoved by the wicked decrees of pagan kings, Daniel kept an unwavering focus on using his influence to glorify God.

March - April, 2020: 40 Days of Prayer, Fasting & Repentance

4,700+ people spent 40+ days in prayer, fasting, and repentance in response to the crisis of COVID-19. CU Day and Night supported the effort with written and video devotionals.

An Eternal Impact

Christian Union is deeply grateful for the 1,176 ministry partners who stood behind and enabled the ministry's work in the last fiscal year. Alumni often report that they wished Christian Union was available to them while they were students. Thank you for ensuring that current students and future students have the resources they need to grow in their faith, their love for Jesus, and their passion for His Word.

Cornerstone Partners

Each person who gave more than $25 to Christian Union in 2019-2020 is a Christian Union Cornerstone Partner. The ministry is dependent on, and thankful for, each of the partners who help develop and connect transformative Christian leaders through their giving.

Servants Circle

A group of generous individuals and foundations form The Servants Circle, which funds the ministry's budget for fundraising, general and administrative costs, and national programs. Thanks to The Servants Circle, 100 percent of additional donations go directly to teaching and training students in Christian Union Universities' leadership development programs and other designations.

Faithful Friends of the Ministry

The ministry is grateful for the dedicated financial partners who have invested significantly in key aspects of this ministry over many years. Whether it be for general operations of the overall mission or for a specific university or local ministry, these faithful supporters have given generously, prayed often, and shared wonderful insight and expertise with our faculty and staff.

Bible Course Sponsors

Fifty-seven Bible courses were sponsored last year by generous partners who enabled Christian Union to provide instruction, spiritual development, and leadership training to shape the nation's future leaders. Some sponsored one semester for $5,400, and some gave $10,800 to underwrite a full year of a faculty-led Bible course. These courses offered a unique opportunity for sponsors to connect with students in Christian Union ministries.

Alumni Generosity Challenge and Alumni Matching Gift

The Alumni Generosity Challenge and Alumni Matching Gifts were exciting opportunities that allowed graduates to give back to their respective communities. Christian Union is encouraged and blessed by the alumni who donated to ensure the future of this ministry for years to come. This year, there was a $20,000 matching gift for every dollar given during the challenge.

Christian Union Gloria led the way in with 40 alumni becoming partners and raising an anticipated $19,000 over the course of the next year. Christian Union is also grateful for the support and leadership of the alumni boards at Christian Union Nova, Christian Union Lux, and Christian Union Vox.

Planned Giving

If you made a gift of stock or included Christian Union in your estate plans this year, the ministry is deeply thankful for your provision.

Senior Giving

Students graduating from CU universities demonstrated their desire to remain connected to Christian Union through their giving. When seniors give, it helps ensure that future students will be able to enjoy the same opportunities for spiritual growth that Christian Union provided for them as students.

"I will long be indebted to Christian Union. I've become a donor not just to give back in some small way to the organization that has offered me mentorship, company, and encouragement on the journey of faith, but because I would like to remain invested in our community of Christ-followers." - Jackson Foltz, CU Martus at Penn '20

Recurring Giving

Special thanks goes to the growing number of partners who have arranged for their giving to automatically recur on a monthly, quarterly or annual basis through online giving. This convenient solution offers a dependable stream of funding. Thank you!

Watching students grow in their love for Christ is incredibly beautiful and rewarding.

As ministry faculty, we meet first-years in Bible course with very little biblical or theological knowledge. In four years we see them mature in their understanding of the gospel, put their faith into action, and develop into mature believers.

Through your partnership, you are helping to raise up this generation of thoughtful and passionate disciples who truly are going to change their peers, workplaces and families.

Thank you.
